WHAT WILL socialism be like? Within a socialist society we shall all be useful producers, collectively concerned with producing the most with the least expenditure of human labor and collectively jealous of the rights of every individual to a life of happiness and affluence. We shall collectively produce the things we need and want. New techniques and inventions, and the elimination of anarchy and waste in production, will greatly increase the wealth available. Such technological improvements, instead of resulting in unwanted surplus and unemployment, will enable us to reduce drastically the hours of work. Socialism will, therefore give us the leisure time to develop our facilities and live healthy happy lives. Any questions or comments feel free to call Ken at Workers Unite. 231-652-2865.
